YES TO IMPEACHMENT:

DEFEND THE CONSTITUTION AND ALLOW OUR DEMOCRATIC INSTITUTIONS TO DELIVER JUSTICE AND REFORM

The League of Cities of the Philippines, the official organization of all the cities of the country, expresses its grave concern over the staunch opposition currently being waged against the impeachment of the Chief Justice.

Those who oppose the impeachment of the Chief Justice, including a group that purports to represent the members of the Integrated Bar of the Philippines, bewail that the process undermines the independence of the judiciary. They claim that the Supreme Court is a collegial body. They insist that the Court is being prosecuted for decisions reached by it pursuant to its processes and subjected to reconsideration proceedings. This, according to them, constitutes the rule of law.

We in the League of Cities of the Philippines, disagree. It is not the impeachment process that undermines the Constitutionally-enshrined independence of the Judiciary. Rather, it is the conduct of some of the Justices, the Chief Justice himself included, that has done the same.

So it is that the Supreme Court is a collegial body. But we must not forget that this collegial body, empowered by nothing less than the Philippine Constitution as the final interpreter of the law, is made up of individuals - individuals who have been swayed by the influence and power of outside forces. These individuals have abandoned their Constitutional duty to be independent and impartial. They have removed the blindfolds of Lady Justice, and have instead handed down justice selectively. These Justices have, in spite of their own rules of procedure and the plain letter of the law and Constitution, changed their minds on whim, convinced merely by personal letters written by unscrupulous lawyers, to overturn decisions that are not only final, but have already been executed. The Chief Justice himself voted to reverse decisions that have already been entered in the Book of Judgments and implemented.

Even granting that the decisions in the flip-flopping cases may have been collegial decisions, they were on the wrong side of the law. The court under the present Chief Justice's leadership accepted pleadings filed in violation of its own Rules of Court and its own Administrative Circulars, and in total disregard of its own repeated admonitions that "no further pleadings shall be entertained." The Chief Justice voted in that manner, even though as Chief Justice and primus inter pares among the magistrates, he had the primary duty to honor first the certainty of finality of judgments and the integrity of the judicial process.

The League of Cities of the Philippines have mounted peaceful assemblies to show our disdain and to protest the highly irregular actions of the Supreme Court and the Chief Justice and we lament how the group claiming to represent the Integrated Bar of the Philippines is so willing to overlook these faults of the Judiciary, and how they refuse to hold the Chief Justice accountable for his actions as the leader of the Court. We challenge each Filipino - not just the oppositors, but each and every citizen of this country - to look deeper into the heart of the matter. We urge all the stakeholders to look behind the cases that turned out to be anomalous. This impeachment case against the Chief Justice shows that for our democratic institutions and processes, no one person is above the law. It shows that our democracy can demand accountability and work towards reform.

We Filipinos are standing at a crossroads in our history: we must choose between defending an eroded institution or upholding our Constitution and the true Rule of Law. We, the League of Cities of the Philippines, choose the latter. We urge you to do the same.

Why James Jean's art works

James Jean heads back to Manila, just in time for the release of his new book, 'Rebus.' The Taiwanese-American visual artist talks to Valerie Chua about his daily routine (or lack thereof), Prada, and the importance of an education.

WHY JAMES JEAN'S ART WORKS

> 'I think the most important thing for a young person starting out is that they should only try to make work that they're interested in, and that is true and honest to who they are.'
